Artists Reception
Saturday April 19th
Submitted by Irene Fuller 527-5180

Like the cowboys bringing their culture to town with them for this weekends Red Bluff Round-Up and melding it with Tehama Counties roots, so is Susana Rosenzuit. A Red Bluff resident and artist, Susana brings us a hint of being raised on the Argentina pampas, cow and horse country. She was born in Santa Fe, Argentina, her art reflects her culture and she shares it with us in her painting "Stallions". "Stallions" capture the muscle and motion of the thundering herd stampeding across the pampas by the use of color more than definition. The viewer can all but smell the dust.

While working as a TV producer in Esperanza, Argentina, Susan began to enjoy the many manifestations of the art the show presented. From the TV industry Susana moved into the travel industry which provided the unique experience of many varied cultures and lifestyles. Susan states,"My observations while traveling allowed my 'artist within' to capture the beauty and essence of many landscape scenarios." Susana's oil on canvas "Walk in the Redwoods" reflects this.

Though largely self taught Susan states she has attended the School of Art in Salinas, the Carmel Art Center, Shasta College and has studied under other credited Professors while residing in California. Susana's work has hung and sold in Fine Art Galleries of Puerto Rico, Argentina, and Monique Aaron located in the Art and Antique district of San Francisco.

The public is invited to Susana's Reception at HeartFelt Designs Gallery, 623 Main Street, Red Bluff at 2:00pm on Saturday the 19th.
